

Vocabulary

History	accession	the process by which someone rises to a position of power
	armistice	an agreement by people at war to stop fighting
	conflict	a serious disagreement
	coronation	the ceremony when a new Queen or King receives the crown
	evacuee	a person taken (evacuated) from a place of danger inherit	receive
	in line to the throne	the person who will become King or Queen after the present ruler
	monarchy	a form of government with King or Queen as the head
	Nazi	a member of the National Socialist German Workers Party (1933-1945)
	present	the current period of time
	remember	to bring back a piece of information into your mind
	resolution	a firm decision to do or not do something succession	a number of people that follow one after another
Geography	suffragette	a woman seeking the right to vote through organised protest
	zeppelin	a large German airship
	dominance	power and influence over others
	economic trade routes	where things are bought from and sold to imperialism	when a country tries to extend its power beyond its own borders
Art and Design	proximity	being close
	Swiss Alps	a mountain range in Europe
	trade alliances	an agreement to buy and sell things
	proportion	a part of a whole exaggeration	a statement that says something is better or worse than it really is manipulation	controlling someone or something to your own advantage
	monochrome	black and white picture
	propaganda	misleading or biased information

Why do we remember?

Year 6 Crew
Knowledge Organiser
Terms 1 and 2

Enquiries

Is it wrong to kill a king?
Why was it called the Great war?
Why did it happen again?
Could it have been prevented?
Was it the same again?
What happens now?
How should we remember?

Key Facts

There have been 61 monarchs of England and Britain spread over a period of approximately 1200 years.
The first world war started on 28 July 1914 and ended on 11 November 1918.
In the UK, around six million men were mobilised, and of those just over 700,000 were killed. That's around 11.5%. The first world war caused nearly 17 million people deaths in total.
The Treaty of Versailles was an important peace document that ended WWI.
The second world war was from 1 September 1939 – 2 September 1945.
There were key geographical areas for conflict and these affected key economic trade routes.
Geography played a crucial part in the conflict.
The red poppy is a symbol for remembrance.
During WW2, many propaganda posters were produced.

Anchor texts

Letters from the Lighthouse by Emma Carroll
In Flanders Field by John McCrae

Key Dates

1066 Battle of Hastings.
1914 - 1918 World War 1
1939 - 1945 World War II
11th November Remembrance Day
10 Jul 1940 – 31 Oct, 1940 Battle of Britain
10th May 1940 evacuation of Dunkirk
7 December 1941 Pearl harbour
6 Aug 1945 – 9 Aug 1945 Atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki

Selected Monarchs

1066 – 1087 William I
1199 – 1216 King John
1483 – 1485 Richard III
1509 – 1547 Henry VIII
1553 – 1558 Mary I
1760 – 1820 George III
1837 – 1901 Queen Victoria
1910 – 1936 George V
1936 – 1936 Edward VIII
1936 – 1952 George VI
1952 – Present day Queen Elizabeth II

Diagrams

